Science Week

It was Science Week last week and there were lots of exciting trips and events taking place. The theme for this year's British Science Week was 'Journeys', encouraging young people to think about the different scientific journeys that happen everyday and how they can discover science through their own lives and experiences. It was also a chance for pupils to consider how journeys can help us experience more of the world around us.

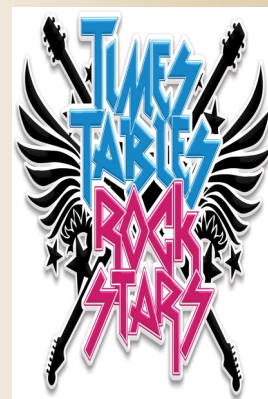

Different year groups visited the Science Museum and we also had a workshop take place in assembly showing off some fantastic experiments. Thanks to Miss Baldwin for organising.

Times table Rock Stars
